

Data Protection Privacy Notice

General Practices are usually the first point of contact if you have a health problem. They can treat many conditions and give health advice. They also refer patients to hospitals and other medical services for urgent and specialist treatments.

The data we hold may also be used to shape the way we work together to plan service improvements, improve the health and wellbeing of our communities, and take action to prevent illness and disease for individuals as well as wider communities.

The categories of personal information

Dependent on the purpose of processing, different categories of data may be used by the Practice. Data can be categorised using the following terms:

Anonymised data – data where personal identifiable identifiers have been removed. Data protection laws and the Common Law of Confidentiality do not apply to anonymised data.

Pseudonymised data – data where any information which could be used to identify an individual has been replaced with a fake identifier. Pseudonymised data remains personal data and as such the Common Law Duty of Confidentiality and Data Protection legislation apply and there must be a lawful reason for using such data.

Person identifiable information (or personal data) – any information about an individual from which, either on its own or together with other information, that person may be identified. The Common Law Duty of Confidentiality and Data Protection legislation apply and there must be a lawful reason for using such data.

To find out more about the data processed for each purpose, please click on the links below (The Purpose(s) of Processing).

In addition to the above types of data, some information is considered protected regardless of the purpose of processing; this information does not form part of your shared care record and is not disclosed to any other third parties without your permission unless there are exceptional circumstances, such as if the health and safety of others is at risk or if the law requires us to pass on such information.

The purpose(s) of processing personal data

How long do we keep your record?

The Practice maintains your records in accordance with the NHS Records Management Code of Practice 2021.

How we keep your personal information safe and secure

To protect personal and special category data, we make sure the information we hold is kept in secure locations and access to information is restricted to authorised personnel only.

Our appropriate technical and security measures include:

- all employees and contractors who are involved in the processing of personal data are suitably trained, on an annual basis, in maintaining the confidentiality and security of the personal data and are under contractual or statutory obligations of confidentiality concerning the personal data.
- robust policies and procedures for example password protection
- technical security measures to prevent unauthorised access
- use of 'user access authentication' mechanisms to make sure all instances of access to any personal data held on clinical systems are auditable against an individual, such as role-based access and Smartcard use to make sure appropriate and authorised access reminding staff of their responsibilities in complying with data protection legislation
- encrypting information transmitted between partners
- implementing and maintaining business continuity, disaster recovery and other relevant policies and procedures
- completion of the Data Security and Protection Toolkit \(DSPT\) an annual self-assessment requirement that ensure organisation are compliant with the latest data protection and cyber requirements.
- regular audit of policies and procedures to ensure adherence against these criteria

The NHS Digital Code of Practice on Confidential Information applies to all staff who access clinical systems. They are required to protect your information, inform you of how your information will be used, and allow you to decide if and how your information can be shared.

What are your rights?

Under data protection legislation, you have the right:

- to be informed of the uses of your data: this enables you to be informed how your data is processed
- of access: this enables you to have sight of or receive a copy of the personal information held about you and to check the lawful processing of it
- to rectification: this enables you to have any incomplete or inaccurate information held about you corrected
- to erasure: this enables you to request we erase personal data about you we hold. This is not an absolute right, and depending on the legal basis that applies, we may have overriding lawful grounds to continue to process your data

- to restrict processing: this enables you to ask us to suspend the processing of personal information about you, for example, if you want us to establish its accuracy or the reason for processing it
- to data portability: this enables you to transfer your electronic personal information to another party, where appropriate.
- to object: this enables you to object to processing of personal data about you on grounds relating to your situation. The right is not absolute, and we may continue to use the data if we can demonstrate compelling legitimate grounds.
- in relation to automated decision making and profiling: this enables you to be told if your data is being processed using automated software in relation to automated decision making and profiling note: No automated decision making or profiling is undertaken by the Practice.

Please note not all these rights are absolute, please see our ROPA for more details
